00:43:14 Allison Young: Hi! I'm Allison Young - Kindergarten teacher from Ottawa Catholic School Board

00:48:08 Tom DAmico: Great to see several OCSB educators taking part - glad you could join the call - lots of affirming information regarding our focus on global competencies.

00:48:56 Greg Carroll: Nice Tom - good thinking here :-)

00:49:00 Denise Andre: Nice shout out #ocsbDL

00:49:11 Allison Young: Thank you Tom! So happy I came across this webinar on Twitter!

00:49:11 Heather MacDonell: Yay #ocsbDL

00:49:26 Maria Stafrace-Dupont: YAY #ocsbDL

00:49:32 Gulshan Ara: Hello, I am Gulshan from Ottawa

00:49:32 Heather Vezina: My son is a student at OCSB...glad to see educators taking part! :)

00:49:49 Megan McLellan: Great to be able to listen in from New Zealand :)

00:50:11 maxdrummy: hello everyone. great to have you with us. please use the chat for.....CHAT :-) and any questions should go in the QA box

00:50:17 maxdrummy: hello everyone. great to have you with us. please use the chat for.....CHAT :-) and any questions should go in the QA box

00:50:47 Amy Chislett: Would be great to have that previous slide up to see the graphic. If possible.

00:51:27 Amy Chislett: perfect that

00:51:38 Jacqueline MacDonald: Thank you!

00:51:39 Amy Chislett: thank you

00:52:03 Heather MacDonell: Maslow before Bloom!

00:53:03 Mohamed Bahgat: maslow before Bloom

I like this :)

00:53:28 Joanne Parenteau: Yes, I'm so happy to be here to be able to continue to review and dig deeper into Deep Learning and the global competencies, with the focus on distance teaching.

00:54:25 Kenneth Hemeon: FEEDBACK is essential

00:56:11 Greg Carroll: Thats a really useful resource!

00:56:50 Greg Carroll: #thanksMax!

00:57:01 Tom DAmico: Great to see Collaborator include reference to equity and the need to recognize the different learning conditions for each student in the class

00:57:25 maxdrummy: link <https://bit.ly/ACCBvrt20>

00:57:30 maxdrummy: link <https://bit.ly/ACCBvrt20>

00:57:37 maxdrummy: link <https://bit.ly/ACCBvrt20>

00:57:57 Greg Carroll: Agreed Tom - Equity issues huge here (NZ) Particularly as circumstances change with parents who were at home moving back to work

00:59:08 Farzaneh Zarshenas: hi everybody Im Ferry Zarshenas from Wilshire daycare.

00:59:09 Joanne Parenteau: Absolutely! That's why we need to connect through phone, email with families to understand needs and establish ways for us make things more equitable.

01:01:58 maxdrummy: wow great ideas!!!!

01:02:07 maxdrummy: wonderful

01:02:22 Mag Gardner: Terrific!

01:02:32 Dawnette Hoard: It's so important to never give up trying to connect. It only takes once to gain contact for them to engage with you and want to sustain or initiate the learning. It shows the no matter what the situation you will never give up on them.

01:03:39 Dawnette Hoard: It's the power of relationships :)

01:04:02 Judy Fancher: Great idea for the Deep Learning Moments

01:04:40 maxdrummy: deep learning moments...make them happen!

01:05:33 Laura Lambie: Wow!!!

01:05:53 Jacqueline MacDonald: That's so lovely

01:06:18 Judy Fancher: Fabulous!

01:07:21 Kylie Tang: Thank you!

01:09:29 Jessica Thorpe: I LOVE THIS! Even for secondary level students, the opportunity to play and create is essential for all of us, no matter the age!

01:09:39 Greg Carroll: The 'Learning by stealth' reference - <http://blog.core-ed.org/blog/2020/04/so-youre-the-teacher-now-tips-and-strategies-for-whanau-navigating-learning-at-home.html>

01:09:49 Lisa Smith: Love these ideas!

01:10:05 Dawnette Hoard: These are great!

01:10:11 Laura White: Love these provocations!

01:10:19 Jenna Sylvester: Love this!

01:10:25 Greg Carroll: There is a series of blog posts there that are really good :-)

01:10:51 Karl Clauset: Thanks everyone for sharing these links. The Chat transcript should be part of the recording we get next week.

01:11:37 Valerie Schock: We don't want to impose any more on families than we are, but check ins on families and how they are doing has never felt like an imposition but received as a caring act. It's the relationships that will carry us all through 01:11:52 Gloria Poirot: Great questions that would guide my lesson planning!

01:12:08 Dawnette Hoard: So true Valerie :)

01:12:17 maxdrummy: more on the 6 Cs at www.npdI.global

01:13:22 Jacqueline MacDonald: Val always knows what to say:) #ocsb

01:13:41 Joanne Parenteau: I am unable to use the padlet. I connect with students through the hangouts my partner teachers organize. My co choir director and I have started having choir practices - students from different classes get to connect with each other. Many students in my school are in difficult economic situations. Our school board has made chromebooks or ipads available to those needing a device. The OCSB has also provide internet to those needing it. We have to recognize that things still are not equitable. Every family's situation is different, so we need to reach out and find out what they need. I was so happy to have had the chance to deliver some 'learning kits' that my principal prepared. The families were so happy to see someone from school! I have made it clear to parents that though I am sending work to them, I am only expecting them to do what they can. As children send me work, I make a point of giving feedback, writing an encouraging bilingual message.

01:13:53 Amy Chislett: Hopeful: I can choose what I want my students to learn

01:13:56 Sara Remillard: Thank you very much

01:14:04 Amy Chislett: Thank you very much!!

01:14:10 Rachel Thompson: NPD L webinars -- fastest hours ever!! Thank you! It's good to "see" you, Joanne & Max. Hugs from Alpine School District, UT

01:14:14 Colleen Ledwell: Thank you!

01:14:19 Karl Clauset: Tara Nathan 01:41 PM

Can we please have the video to that beautiful video with the song. I am presenting to my staff about engagement and would love to show this

maxdrummy 01:42 PM

video link <https://vimeo.com/413100268>

01:14:23 Margot McKeegan: Hopeful -using the NPDL framework to help teachers go back to great learning in school -develop blended skills

01:14:23 Jim Taylor: The importance of relationships can't be overstated. Teachers have been working on these relationships with students and parents since the start of the school year. A good relationship can withstand the most challenging crisis.

01:14:32 rosemary vellar: I found the new infographics very helpful.

01:14:34 Lisa Smith: This was awesome. Thank you.

01:14:46 rosemary vellar: Great seminar - thank-you Joanne

01:14:47 Gloria Poirot: What makes me hopeful is that my students are sending me messages, making me feel that they need that connection/relation with me. :-)

01:14:49 Joe Backman: Thank you Joanne!

01:14:49 Jean Clinton: I Have to say again that creating these conditions for deep learning will absolutely immunize our kids against mental health challenges Thanks soooo much JOanne

01:15:00 Tom DAmico: Hi Margot - I hope all is well in New Zealand!

01:15:05 Judy Fancher: A podcast said this time is our purpose...I'm glad to be with such a distinguished educators to meet this time and space with hope and creativity

01:15:06 Erica Phillips: Thank you! Relationships first! with all parties involved!

01:15:30 Stacie Woodward: It makes me hopeful that there is this community of dedicated educators who are focused on promoting deep learning over replicating schooling.

01:16:09 Diana Siliezar-Shields: I appreciate the emotional learning mindset.

01:16:24 Tonya Bull-Kelly: Teacher as activator, culture builder and collaborator...very insightful!

01:16:29 Kristine Phillips: Thank you, I love this ❤️

01:16:33 Dawnette Hoard: The key to all of the learning does settle in the relationships we build with our students. The more we know them and give them value and purpose the more they want to engage and participate in the learning!

01:16:37 Margot McKeegan: Hi Tom - NZ being creative being kind and still have levels of lockdown - silver lining -need to design deep learning with NPDL lens -congrats on your promotion

01:16:38 Denise Andre: It will be interesting to find out what students liked about distance learning, and what we can learn from this when we return to bricks and mortar.

01:16:46 Tammy Manor: I'm certainly hopeful seeing all the opportunities for collaboration, not only in my own district, but around the country and the globe!

01:16:51 Cresencia Fong: I'm hopeful that this pandemic time is a catalyst for teaching and learning innovation. Now that we have to be more intentional about maintaining our connections with people, I'm also hopeful that this time will be a time of strengthening community

01:17:04 Jessica Thorpe: As a new teacher, it gives me great hope to know that there is a GLOBAL network of passionate educators here that I can call on and learn from!

01:17:30 Joanne Parenteau: Thank you so much for this wonderful opportunity to learn and share our ideas and experiences. I also feel that we all agree that empathy is a big part of our focus! I feel very supported and hopeful!

01:17:39 Tom DAmico: Great to have Dr. Jean Clinton on this call - if you haven't seen her video series on wellbeing - visit t.ly/W6Jw

01:17:46 Jim Taylor: Look for ways that businesses and governments have used the 6Cs in addressing the cover-19 pandemic. Who would have imagined Labatt's Brewery would be producing hand sanitizer. Creativity and Imagination in action.

01:18:07 Trish Weaver: Thanks for prompting the open questions that made me more reflective of how I can activate a higher level of thinking in my learners and how we as teaches can build our calm as teachers.

01:18:39 Megan McLellan: The challenge will be not to fall back into our old routines out of habit - I look forward to hearing strategies for how to avoid this!

01:19:05 Tammy Manor: Absolutely Megan!

01:19:12 Greg Carroll: compliance \neq engagement

01:19:37 Gloria Poirot: Great points to address!

01:19:38 Stacie Woodward: You have hit the nail on the head, Joanne.

01:19:46 Judy Fancher: This has been a hard shift for several teachers as well...

01:20:10 Dawnette Hoard: So true Joanne!

01:20:32 Jim Taylor: Dis-engagement can be the result of many factors. Many families are struggling just to get through the day and school work is not on the radar. Many high schools kids are working in service jobs to help support their families.

01:20:43 Heather MacDonell: What would be your recommendation for sharing some of this information with teachers without them feeling overwhelmed? They are doing so much and their wellness is so important.

01:20:48 Margot McKeegan: Designing learning which is authentic relevant and collaborative...making a difference ...our deep learning "norm"

01:20:51 Jim Taylor: Hey Ottawa people - did you just hear the Snowbirds!

01:20:58 Margot McKeegan: Ion learning

01:21:01 Jill Handrigan: This goes straight back to questioning what is worth learning.

01:21:32 Dawnette Hoard: Great question!

01:21:33 Emma Ritzema-Bain: Let's measure what matters now

01:21:39 Jill Handrigan: Going graceless is a positive byproduct. I would love to keep it this way.

01:21:39 Tom DAmico: Great question - would be nice to see if the pause on standardized testing has any impact at the level of policy makers

01:21:41 Joanne Parenteau: Darn; I didn't.

01:21:43 Marjorie Axford Couch: Yes! Heard the snowbirds!!

01:21:46 Amy Chislett: wonderful!!!

01:22:01 Jessica Thorpe: Emphasis on Jim Taylor's comment about engagement. It is also so inextricably tied to the equity, safety, and well-being question

01:22:04 Jill Handrigan: gradeless, not graceless

01:22:17 Kenneth Hemeon: The response we are getting from students is "Is this being graded? If not I'm not doing it because I already have my grade and that is good enough."

01:22:55 Margot McKeegan: Teacher and students relationships were key after the quakes - they learnt in creative ways

01:23:06 Dawnette Hoard: We need the joy of learning back into our classrooms!

01:23:23 Kristine Phillips: Thank you so much. This information was informative and refreshing.

01:23:24 maxdrummy: This webinar is being recorded and the webinar recording will be released publicly Monday May 11 at 10 am EST via Facebook, twitter and on the NPDL website...

01:23:38 maxdrummy: This webinar is being recorded and the webinar recording will be released publicly Monday May 11 at 10 am EST via Facebook, twitter and on the NPDL website...

01:23:50 Kendra Bowser: So rich, indeed! Thanks so much.

01:23:58 Denise Andre: Thanks Joanne, Mag and Max!

01:24:01 Margot McKeegan: Thanks everyone - wonderful ideas great calm designing for learning which is "stickie"

01:24:05 Tom DAmico: Thanks Max, Mag, and Joanne for organizing these sessions.

01:24:09 Emma Ritzema-Bain: This book is AMAZING

01:24:09 Jim Tayer: There is a massive opportunity to learn from each other in creating a post-COVID-19 environment in our schools. Businesses are thinking deeply about the world of work. Airlines, grocery stores....big changes are coming....what will it look like in our schools?

01:24:11 Tania Mills: Thank-you Joanne and the team :)

01:24:17 maxdrummy: This webinar is being recorded and the webinar recording will be released publicly Monday May 11 at 10 am EST via Facebook, twitter and on the NPDL website...

01:24:23 Allison Young: Thank you so much! This was great :)

01:24:27 Heather MacDonell: Thanks everyone!

01:24:33 Lisa Smith: Thank you!!!

01:24:38 Annmarie Zigrossi: Thank you Joanne, Mag and Max!!!

01:24:38 Laura White: Thanks team-you are amazing!

01:24:38 Julie Myszak: Thank you!

01:24:39 Amanda Ladig: Thank you Joanne, Mag and Max - this was great!

01:24:39 Jenna Sylvester: Thank you so much for this informative webinar! Take good care everyone.

01:24:47 Gloria Poirot: Thank you so much!

01:24:48 Miranda Thorman: Thank you!!

01:25:03 Charlene Jones: Thanks you.....this was a great.

01:25:09 Judy Fancher: Thank you for some a much needed "pick me up"!

01:25:11 Tonya Bull-Kelly: Thanks so much! A wonderful learning session. Stay safe- everyone!

01:25:13 Diana Siliezar-Shields: Thank you!!

01:25:17 Joanne Parenteau: Thank you so much! I learned so much!

01:25:21 Kenneth Hemeon: Thank you so much from the eastern most province in Canada! Great session.

01:25:27 Valerie Schock: Many thanks!

01:25:31 Rachel Thompson: Continue the fabulous work! Thank you!

01:25:31 Dawnette Hoard: Thank you so much!

01:25:34 Amanda McLarnon: Thank you!
